Only1.io has developed the privacy policies outlined below (this “Privacy Policy”) to demonstrate its commitment to protecting your privacy. By accessing the Site or the Platform or using the Services, you acknowledge your agreement to accept the practices described in this Privacy Policy and you consent to our processing of your information as set forth in this Privacy Policy now and as amended by us. “Processing” means using cookies or local storage on a computer or hand held device or using or touching information in any way, including, but not limited to: collecting, storing, deleting, using, combining and disclosing information.

OUR COMMITMENT TO PRIVACY

This Privacy Policy describes the types of information that we collect, how that information may be used, with whom it may be shared, and your choices about such uses and disclosures. We encourage you to read this Privacy Policy carefully when using our Services and the Platform. This Privacy Policy is intended to comply with data and privacy laws applicable to us and the operation of the Site and the provision of the Platform and the Services.

Our Privacy Policy was developed as an extension of our commitment to combine the highest quality products and services with the highest level of integrity in dealing with our Platform users, investors, contractors and service providers. This statement will be continuously assessed against new technologies, business practices and our customers’ needs.

Keep in mind that no transmission of data over the Internet is guaranteed to be completely secure. It may be possible for third parties not under our control to intercept or access transmissions or private communications unlawfully. If you choose to visit the Site, your visit and any dispute over privacy is subject to this Privacy Policy, including but not limited to limitations of damages and application of the law of the State of New York.

Our Privacy Policy has been adopted with the recognition that Internet technologies are rapidly evolving, and that underlying business models are still not established. Accordingly, these policies are subject to change at any time and we reserve the right at any time and without notice to change this Privacy Policy simply by posting such changes on the Site. Any such change will be effective immediately upon posting. Your continued access and use of the Site, the Platform or the Services after the effective date of any modification to the Privacy Policy will be deemed to be your agreement to the changed terms. You agree to review the Privacy Policy each time you use the Site, the Platform or the Services so that you are aware of such modifications.

To assist you with reading through our Privacy Policy, we have provided answers to general questions on our privacy practices:

WHAT INFORMATION DO WE COLLECT?

When you visit the Site, you may provide us with one of three types of information: (1) Personal Information, which means personal information that you knowingly choose to disclose that is collected on an individual or corporate basis; (2) De-Identified Information, which means collected online information in which all personal and individually identifiable elements have been removed; and (3) Aggregate Information, which refers to general web site use information collected on an aggregate basis as you and others browse the Site.

(1) PERSONAL INFORMATION THAT YOU CHOOSE TO PROVIDE

Account Information

In order to access and use the Platform and our Services, you must first set up an account to become a Site User. You must voluntarily submit certain personal information about yourself or your employer or business if you are opening an account on behalf of your employer or your own company.

EMAIL INFORMATION

In addition, for the purpose of providing the general information from us and our service providers, if you choose to correspond further with us through email, we may retain the content of your email messages together with email address and our responses. We provide the same protections for these electronic communications that we employ in the maintenance of information received by mail and telephone.

Mobile Device Information

We also collect Personal Information from your computer, tablet, mobile phone or other device that you are using to access our Services. This can include the IP address, the browser, geolocation and your language settings.

In general, Personal Information may include name, home address, date of birth, email address, IP address, device identifier, social media account user name or ID, phone number, SMS text messaging account name or number, personal preferences, credit card, check or other payment processing, and other user account-related information.

Personal Information is collected online when users voluntarily submit non-public personal information on the Sites by establishing an user account, requesting information, receiving electronic notices or other similar communications. Only your IP address and/or user name would be collected automatically when you access the Sites for purposes of processing your login to your account in the platform or enhancing your Sites browsing via cookies and/or auditing.

We will retain any personal information submitted by you for fulfillment of the intended purposes for which such is collected. We will establish minimum and maximum retention periods based upon the type of information collected (i.e., sensitivity), the intended purposes and as otherwise may be legally required. We will retain your Personal Information for as long as you use the Platform or the Services and until you request to delete your data.

However, Personal Information shall not include any personal information posted or sent by or to you on your public page or in any public forum (such as a comment box or a review) on the Site or linked from the Site (such as a Facebook page). Participation in these public forums requires the public release and dissemination of such information, and thus Only1.io cannot commit to treating such information confidentially in the same manner that other personal information will be treated under this Privacy Policy. Participation in these features of the Site is voluntary and thus your consent to certain terms is required before participation is allowed. Participation in these features of the Site is voluntary; we are not responsible and shall not be held liable for any personally identifiable information posted by you in any of our public forums.

(2) De-Identified Information

De-Identified Information is used in a collective manner for analyses and statistics in order to improve the Platform. De-Identified Information does not personally identify a specific user. This includes any statistical analysis derived from the efficiency and performance of the Platform or our performance of the Services or any resultant data for the NTF transactions made available through the Platform.

We may use De-Identified Information to improve the efficiency, performance and offerings of the Platform, the Services and the Sites. We also may sell or share such De-Identified Information with others.

(3) Aggregate Information Based On Web Site Usage

Aggregate Information is non-personally identifiable or anonymous information about you, such as pages most frequently accessed by you, time spent on a page or area of the Site, the number of visits to the Site by you, types of browser used by you, cookie preferences or search terms entered by you. Aggregate Information is used in a collective manner, and no single person can be identified by that compiled information (for example, the number of people who logged into the Site in a particular day). Aggregate Information does not personally identify a specific user.

When you visit the Site, we automatically collect Aggregate Information about your visit. We can tell the type of computer, browser, and web service that you are using. We also know the date, time, and pages that you visit. Collecting this information helps us design the Site to enhance your experience while on our site.

We also may use Aggregate Information for internal purposes, such as tracking demographic data and providing targeted content to make the Site more useful to our members. The gathering of this Aggregate Information may be accomplished by the use of cookies or web beacons by us. In particular, we will collect an IP Address from all visitors to the Site. An IP Address is a number that is automatically assigned to your computer when you use the Internet.

We may share Aggregate Information with third parties to enhance your experience on our Site and otherwise in fulfillment of obligations. We use IP addresses to help diagnose problems with our server, administer our Site, analyze trends, track users' movement on the Site, gather broad demographic information for aggregate use in order for us to improve the Site, and deliver customized, personalized content and data analytics reporting. IP addresses, however, are not linked to Personal Information. We also may use an unique assigned number located with the Site's URL to determine the web site from which you navigated to get to the Site. While this number may not be apparent to you, it does not contain your Personal Information.

Similar to other commercial web sites, our Site utilizes a standard technology called "cookies" and web server logs or beacons to collect information about how the Site is used. Information gathered through cookies and web server logs may include the date and time of visits, the pages viewed, time spent at the Site, and the web sites visited by you prior to and after the Site. This information is collected on an aggregate basis. None of this information is associated with you as an individual.

HOW DO WE USE PERSONAL INFORMATION PROVIDED BY YOU TO US?

Generally, we use personal information for purposes of administering our business activities, providing customer service and making available other products and services to our customers and prospective customers. Occasionally, we may also use the information that we collect to notify you about important changes to the Site, the Platform and the Services and new services and special offers that we think that you will find valuable. The lists are used to send you product and service offers developed and managed under our traditional corporate standards designed to safeguard the security and privacy of our customers' personal information. As a customer, you will be given the opportunity, at least once annually, to notify us of your request not to receive these offers

HOW DOES ONLY1.IO USE SOCIAL MEDIA?

We use social media in different ways and for different purposes. We use it partly to facilitate the use of certain features of our Services, but also to promote our services and mission and to advertise, improve and facilitate our Services.

Login with your social media account

We offer you the opportunity to sign into an user account with your social media account, which saves you from having to remember different user names and passwords for different online services.

Integration of social media plugins

We also have integrated social media plugins into our platform. This means that when you click on one of the buttons (such as Facebook's "Like" button) certain information is shared with these social media providers.

PROFILING

We may use social media to identify your personal preferences or profile you so that we may suggest content, products or retailers that may be of interest to you based on those personal preferences or profiling.

When a user signs into the Site or the Platform with a social media account or uses other social media services to interact with Only1.io or our Site users, the information you choose to share with us may include the basic information available in your social media profile (including your email address, status updates and a list of your contacts). Your social media provider will be able to tell you more about how they use and process your data whenever you connect with Only1.io through them. Also, if you wish to participate in our social media sites linked to the Sites, we will be given your social media user account name as well as access and viewing of your social media account and postings.

WHAT ARE COOKIES AND WEB BEACON (OR PIXEL)?

Cookies are a feature of web browser software that allows web servers to recognize the computer used to access a web site. Cookies are small pieces of data that are stored by a user's web browser on the user's hard drive. Cookies can remember what information a user accesses on one web page to simplify subsequent interactions with that web site by the same user or to use the information to streamline the user's transactions on related web pages. This makes it easier for a user to move from web page to web page and to complete commercial transactions over the Internet. Cookies should make your online experience easier and more personalized.

A web beacon (or pixel) is an object that is embedded in a web page or email and is usually invisible to the user but allows checking to see if the user has viewed the page or email.

HOW DO WE USE INFORMATION THAT WE COLLECT FROM COOKIES OR WEB BEACONS?

We use web site browser software tools such as cookies and web server logs to gather information about our web site users' browsing activities, in order to constantly improve the Site and better serve our customers. This information assists us to design and arrange our pages in the most user-friendly manner and to continually improve the Site or the Platform to better meet the needs of our customers and prospective customers.

Cookies help us collect important business and technical statistics. The information in the cookies lets us trace the paths followed by users to the Site as they move from one page to another. Web server logs allow us to count how many people visit the Site and evaluate the Site's visitor capacity. We do not use these technologies to capture your individual email address or any personally identifying information about you.

Your browser is probably set to accept cookies or web beacons. However, if you would prefer not to receive cookies or web beacons, you can alter the configuration of your browser to refuse cookies or web beacons. If you choose to have your browser refuse cookies or web beacons, it is possible that some areas of the Site will not function properly when you view them. Without cookies, the Site would "forget" items that may be stored when you go to a different page. The session information used by the Site is deleted when your browser is closed. However, some portions of the Site may require account login and passwords in order to access those areas. Cookies enable our server to know that you are an account user; therefore, our system requires that you accept the cookies from those portions of the Site. Other sites linked to the Site also may send cookies; however we do not control such activities.

The Site also may use other technologies to track the specific pages viewed by visitors on this web site or to target specific content that might be of interest to you. These technologies help us to understand how visitors use the Site. However, you will have the option to opt out (or opt in if applicable law requires) of receiving such targeted content on those pages of the Site where this technology is used.

We also use clear gifs in our HTML-based emails to let us know which emails have been opened by recipients. This allows us to gauge the effectiveness of certain communications and the effectiveness of our marketing campaigns.

Some browsers have a “do not track” feature that lets you tell websites that you do not want to have your online activities tracked. These features are not yet uniform, and our Site is not currently set up to respond to those signals for tracking on our Site.

Do We Share Personal Information Provided By Or Collected From You?

As a general policy, we do not share, sell or trade Personal information with third parties without your permission; however, we may provide Personal Information to third parties directly involved in the operation, performance, support and/or maintenance of the Site and each service offered on the Site, including our web site service providers, technical consultant, network retailers and business partners. We also may use your information to personalize your experience and allow us to deliver the type of content and information found on our Platform and to administer a coupon, promotion, survey or other Platform feature, to process your transactions, to ask for ratings and reviews of products and services, and to correspond with you.

We also may share Personal Information with third parties in limited circumstances. For example, we may release Personal Information to third parties to perform services such as hosting the Site (and/or features available on the Site). Such third parties are obligated to maintain the confidentiality of Personal Information and are not authorized to use Personal Information for any purpose other than providing those services or otherwise enhancing your experience on the Site. Aggregate Information may at times be shared with our business partners and other third parties.

From time to time, we may be required to provide Personal Information or Aggregate Information in response to a valid court order, subpoena, government investigation, or as otherwise required by law, or if we reasonably believe that you have committed unlawful acts or acts that may endanger the health or safety of another user or the general public. We also reserve the right to report to law enforcement agencies any activities that we, in good faith, believe to be unlawful. We may release certain personal information when we believe that such release is reasonably necessary to protect the rights, property, and safety of others and ourselves.

We also reserve the right to share, assign or transfer your Personal Information to any of our affiliates or any successor in interest to our organization by merger, reorganization, or operation of law.

SHARING INFORMATION WITH AFFILIATES AND SERVICE PROVIDERS

From time to time you may notice offers from outside companies advertised on the Site or the Platform. We take measures to select product or service providers that are responsible and afford privacy protections to their customers. However, we cannot make any representations about the practices and policies of these companies. We also may share information with our affiliates.

SHARING INFORMATION WITH STRATEGIC PARTNERS

We may enter into strategic marketing alliances or partnerships with third parties who may be given access to your personal information including your name, address, telephone number and email for the purpose of providing you with information regarding products and services that might be of interest to you. However, in connection with strategic marketing alliances or partnerships, we will not share information regarding your social security number or other personal financial data. We are committed to proper Internet practices and full compliance with the CAN-SPAM Act of 2003 (15 U.S.C. Section 77-1 et al).

NOTICE OF NEW SERVICES AND CHANGES

Occasionally, we also may use the personal information that we collect from you in order to notify you about important changes to the Site, the Platform, the Services and new services and special offers that we think that you will find valuable. As our customer, you will be given the opportunity to notify us of your request not to receive these offers by clicking on a response box when you receive such an offer or by sending us an email request at info@only1.io.

HOW DO WE SECURE INFORMATION TRANSMISSIONS?

We maintain commercially reasonable safeguards to ensure the security, integrity and privacy of the Personal Information provided by you. Such security safeguards are intended to be appropriate to the sensitivity of the Personal Information collected. When you send confidential and/or personal information to us on the Site, a secure server software encrypts all information that you input before it is stored in our network servers. The information also is scrambled en route and decoded once it reaches the Site. These security measures work to make sure that such personal information is not accessible by third parties.

Other email that you may send to us may not be secure unless we advise you that security measures will be in place prior to your transmission of that information. For that reason, we ask that you do not send confidential information such as social security or account numbers to us through an unsecured email.

Is Credit Card Information Stored by Us?

Only1.io does not retain on its servers any Personal Information comprising credit cards, ACH or other financial accounts; instead we contract with nationally recognized third party service providers to handle all collection, storage and processing of credit card or financial information submitted by you. All such third party service providers are responsible for to ensure the security, integrity and privacy of the credit card or financial account information provided by you.

HOW DO WE PROTECT YOUR INFORMATION?

We physically secure the areas where we hold hard copies of the information that we collect online. We regularly back up the information that we collect online to insure against loss. We use technical controls to secure the information that we collect online as appropriate, including but not limited to: hash technology, encryption, firewalls, and password protections. We disclose the minimum amount of Personal Information as necessary for the particular purpose in compliance with applicable law.

Periodically, our operations and business practices are reviewed for compliance with corporate policies and procedures governing the security, confidentiality and quality of our information. We periodically test our security procedures to ensure personnel and technical compliance.
